HONEY, Samuel Lewis

V.C. Bourlon Wood, September 27th-30th, 1918
(Posthumous)
Born Conn, Ontario, February 9th, 1894
Unit 78th Battalion, C.E.F.
Died September 30th, 1918

Bourlon Wood was the scene of the operations in which, from September 27 . . . , Lieutenant Honey played an important part. On the 27th, when all his company officers had become casualties, Honey took command, and under very severe fire skilfully carried out reorganisation. Continuing the advance with great dash he gained the objective. He now found that his company was suffering casualties from enfilade machine-gun fire, whereupon he followed the example which had been so often set – he located and rushed, single-handed, the machine-gun nest, and captured the guns and 10 prisoners. Lieutenant Honey afterwards repelled four counter-attacks, and after dark, again went out alone, and having located an enemy post he led a party which captured it and three guns. There was no falling off in the high character of the work which Honey set himself to do. With great skill and daring he led his company on September 29 against a strong German position, and . . . continued his display of heroism and devotion. This gallant officer died of wounds received during the last day of the attack by his battalion.
